MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN

Greetings to all USAWC graduates and Foundation friends,

On behalf of our Foundation Board of Trustees, it is a privilege to share the latest news of our Foundation and of the U.S. Army War College (USAWC) and its graduates. The last few months have been particularly busy at the College with the transition from the 50th Commandant, MG Bill Rapp, RES '04, to the 51st Commandant, MG John S. Kem. We thank MG and Mrs. Rapp for their excellent relationship with us the past three years, and look forward to the same with MG and Mrs. Kem.

We also thank Dr. and Mrs. Lance Betros on their five years of service and partnership in the College's Provost position. We sincerely welcome their replacements, Dr. and Mrs. Jim Breckenridge, who are already contributing in major ways. The Dean's news on pages 10-11 will highlight many of the other key faculty changes, as well.

The September meeting of our Foundation Board of Trustees in Carlisle was very productive as we received excellent updates on College needs and priorities. We work hard to stay current and to look ahead to the future so that our support remains timely and relevant. At our September meeting, we were also pleased to welcome three new Trustees to our Board: Ms. Kim Lane, NSS '16, Mr. Joe LoScalzo, NSS '11, and Ms. Mary Beth Sullivan, NSS '16.

We were sad to bid farewell to three Trustees and cannot thank them enough for their exceptionally productive service: Ms. Jo Dutcher, NSS '08, COL (Ret) Peter Langenus, DCS '88, and Mr. Steven Biondolillo, NSS '12.

The recent hurricanes and fires hitting so many of our states and territories have put hundreds of graduates in danger as victims and/or as responders. This is in addition to the hundreds of graduates deployed all over the world leading and contributing to the nation's work in remote and in complex deployment areas. Please join me in keeping all graduates and their families in our thoughts.

If you work or reside in the greater Washington, DC area, please join us and other USAWC graduates, Fellows, and friends at our next regional USAWC Alumni Dinner. The dinner program will be on Wednesday evening, March 21, 2018, at the former Ft. Myer Officers Club (Patton Hall Ballroom). See page 11 for more details and we hope you'll plan to attend.

Thank you very much for your continued support! The Foundation can help the College in substantive ways because of your generosity and dedication. Please take a minute to review our listing of new Life Members (p. 7) and our Donor Honor Roll (pp. 21-29) as a small way to publicly acknowledge this outstanding support. We do not take for granted our 50 years of successful service to graduates and raising support for the College.

COMMANDANT
U.S. ARMY WAR COLLEGE

Greetings from Carlisle Barracks!

October 31, 2017

Martha and I are tremendously excited to become part of the Army War College family. From its early days, the Army War College has always been the centerpiece of Army strategic education. Just inside the main entrance of Root Hall is a bronze plaque highlighting then General Eisenhower's view of the Army War College in August 1966: "... Education up until the time of the war college concerns the techniques, the tactics, the logistics of battle, of campaigns with their preparation and the operation of troops. Now you are thinking about war, about victory in war or better, keeping us out of war ..."

Being prepared to wage, fight, and win our nation's wars remains paramount. That purpose will not change. Over the decades, the addition of students from other services, this year's 79 international officers from 76 different countries, and the military/interagency civilian students have raised the level of strategic education for the resident and non-resident students to an even higher level. The many students in the traditional program, as well as the students in the nine other courses the Army War College executes, remain a key focus area. But, the faculty is the center of gravity to educate and develop the students and achieve the learning outcomes. I always knew the Army War College had great faculty, but now that I have had the opportunity to work with many of them directly, I am even more impressed.

One of the areas I did not fully appreciate before I arrived here is the evolution of the Army War College to be the leading strategic thought and ideas center for the Army, the Joint Force, and the Nation as a whole. Each of the Army War College Schools, Centers, and Institutes contributes immeasurably in their areas of expertise. In previous articles, MG Bill Rapp highlighted some of the Integrated Research Projects and other student and faculty research efforts. This year, the research remains relevant and vitally important in areas like mobilization, Korea post-conflict stabilization, and some of the individual faculty research and problem-solving efforts for the COCOMs and the Army and Joint staffs. I look forward to highlighting some of these efforts in future editions.

The Army War College remains a place that prides itself on collegiality and collaboration. I am excited to be able to contribute in my own way towards our current efforts and the continued evolution of the Army War College. My family and I look forward to the coming years here at Carlisle Barracks.

INTERNATIONAL FELLOWS HALL OF FAME

CONGRATULATIONS TO OUR NEWEST MEMBERS!

On October 12, 2017, the College welcomed the 64th and 65th members of the International Fellows (IFs) Hall of Fame. This was a unique “double” ceremony as both IFs were from Estonia and one succeeded the other as Estonian Land Forces Commander. BG Indrek Sirel, Class of 2009, served in that position until 2012 and then BG Artur Tiganik, Class of 2011, served in that position from 2012-2014. Both officers expressed their appreciation to seminar-mates, sponsors, faculty members, and other friends and colleagues. We are very proud of them as they continue to contribute tremendously to the productive international partnerships that help tackle strategic issues at every level and in every corner of the globe.

The Class of 1997 grads in the front row came for their 20-year reunion in October and were greeted by the current IFs from their countries for a wonderful meeting. Front Row (L-R): Martin Vine (RES '97, U.K.), Pyar Thapa (RES '97, Nepal), David Hurley (RES '97, Australia) IF Hall of Fame, Lars Fagerberg (RES '97, Sweden), John Vaagland (RES '97, Norway), Willem Bek (RES '97, Netherlands). Back Row (L-R): Shahadev Khadka (RES '18, Nepal), Todd Ashurst (RES '18, Australia), Frode Kristoffersen (RES '18, Norway), Edmondus Caelen (RES '18, Netherlands), Angus McAfee (RES '18, U.K.)

Three USAWC faculty members were in Nigeria September 23-30, 2017 for a military-to-military engagement on behalf of AFRICOM and U.S. Army Africa. It was a workshop to shape development of the newly formed Nigerian Army War College curriculum and a good opportunity to reconnect with USAWC grads from Nigeria. CENTER FOR STRATEGIC LEADERSHIP

The Center for Strategic Leadership (CSL) was formally established June 19, 1992, in response to the Army's decision to expand the use of simulation and wargaming at the strategic and operational levels of the U.S. Army. It is a mission that has been executed and enhanced thanks to planning for a facility and staff that could flex to evolving needs. The home of CSL is Collins Hall, a multi-faceted 155,000-square foot facility that provides both CSL and the USAWC a learning center, a laboratory, a wargaming center, and a conferencing facility. Collins Hall was named in honor of GEN J. Lawton 'Lightning Joe' Collins, RES '38 and Chief of Staff of the Army '49-'53.

CSL filled a critical strategic gap identified by three successive Chiefs of Staff of the Army (CSAs), Generals Carl E. Vuono, RES '73, Gordon R. Sullivan, RES '78, and Dennis J. Reimer, RES '79. The gap was the Army's inability to codify an educational experience for senior leaders that melded experiential learning with theory and doctrine. The three CSAs further directed that wargaming and simulation would be the medium to galvanize strategic thought and debate, establishing CSL as the Army's Strategic Wargaming Center.

On June 1, 2017, we dedicated a 25-year plaque in Collins Hall. As she did at the original dedication, GEN Collins' daughter, Nancy Collins Rubino, once again represented her father, accompanied by her husband, Michael, and daughter Margaret.

CSL Director COL Chris Beckert and GEN J. Lawton Collins' daughter, Nancy Collins Rubino, unveil the 25-year CSL plaque. L-R: CSM Christopher Martinez; MG Wm. E. At CSL, we help leaders make decisions and experience the consequences of those decisions with the opportunity to test assumptions against future scenarios. Leaders can react and consider potential political, military, and economic effects. Also, when current Army Chief of Staff, GEN Mark A. Milley, gave the College authority and responsibility for the Army's general officer education program, the decision recognized the value of CSL's strategic education expertise and capabilities. CSL executes the four core general officer courses, Army Strategic Education Program (ASEP) Basic, Advanced, Senior, and Transitional, as well as the Combined/Joint Force Land Component Commander Course.

Today, CSL integrates its missions with the USAWC School of Strategic Landpower and other war college institutes to continue to be the resource of choice for developing, testing, and reporting on emerging strategic issues, and educating the Army's senior leaders, from Colonels through Lieutenant Generals.

MOBILIZING THE TOTAL FORCE

CSL's Department of Strategic Wargaming continues to examine the Army's readiness to conduct a full mobilization. A recent USAWC tabletop exercise brought together over 100 participants from the mobilization community to better understand the challenges associated with mobilizing a large force for a real-world contingency. The exercise served as a rehearsal for installation logisticians and reserve component trainers, provided actionable feedback to force flow planners, informed resource requirements, and harvested data and insights for the Army's future digital mobilization proving ground.

The tabletop exercise was a simulation designed as a key part of a two-year Integrated Research Project (IRP). The first year is focused on Full Mobilization – mobilizing the current Army end strength – while the second year will focus on Total Mobilization – growing the Army and the industrial base. Subject matter experts from many supporting commands and installations will continue to participate. Mobilization research with several follow-on events should result in products to drive Army resourcing and policy decisions. The intent is to gradually increase the force flow inputs until reaching the full Army authorized end strength of 1,018,000 Soldiers and quantifying the degree of Army preparedness to conduct a mobilization at various levels.

RECENT CLASS REUNIONS

We hosted the second 40-year class reunion this year, plus a 30-year and a 20-year reunion. Grads from the Classes of 1977, 1987, and 1997 came back to see what's changed and what hasn't, and we had a terrific time with each one.

The three reunion groups shared several common events, to include a welcome supper at the LeTort View Community Center (LVCC, formerly the Officers Club); a "Then and Now" briefing from either the Dean, Dr. Richard Lacquement, RES '09, or the former Corresponding Studies Department Chair, COL (Ret) Terry Wallace, RES '83, for the non-resident grads); tours of Root Hall, the U.S. Army Heritage and Education Center, and at least one new housing unit; a windshield tour of the Barracks; a memorial service for deceased classmates; and a reunion dinner. The 20- and 30-year class reunions also had an optional Gettysburg Staff Ride led by a USAWC historian and optional seminar dinners. Lots of class gift history stories were shared, as well!

Thanks to all 1977, 1987, and 1997 grads and spouses who came back to celebrate their relationships with USAWC and with each other.

Their USAWC family photo is shown here. Every minute of the reunion was filled with memories of a year in Carlisle marked with friendships, education, and opportunities of an exceptionally special nature.

U.S. ARMY WAR COLLEGE FELLOWS UPDATE

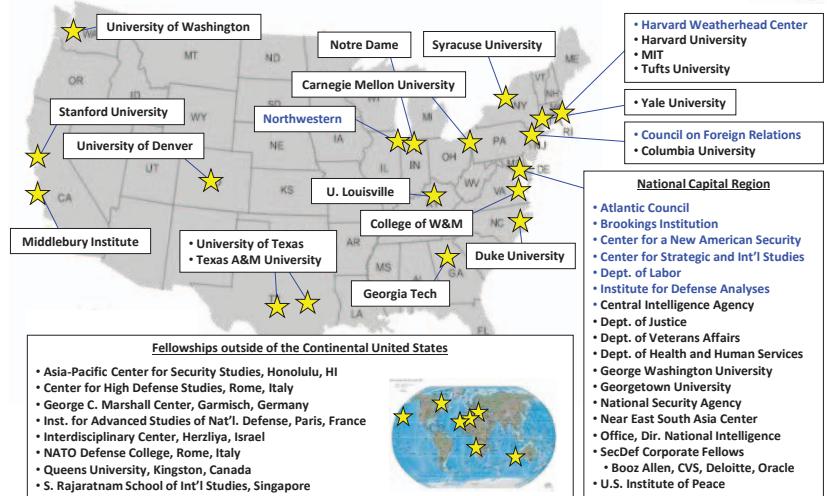

The U.S. Army War College-administered Fellows Programs -- comprised of CSA Senior (post-MEL 1) and U.S. Army War College Fellows (MEL 1) -- are off to a fast start for AY 2018, with 85 Fellows assigned to 54 separate programs in the U.S. and overseas. Fellows will take advantage of learning environments that are parallel but distinct from those traditionally offered by the war colleges and will also represent the Army, formally and informally, at the institutions and areas to which they are assigned, parlaying knowledge gained for the betterment of the Army. They will develop for positions of broad scope and great responsibility, work in highly complex, ambiguous environments, and deal with problems with no clear-cut solutions.

The CSA Senior Army Fellows are sent by the Army as seasoned ambassadors to centers of thought and influence. Once there, they assist those who would deliberate on the larger security challenges faced by the nation, and also report back their findings to the senior Army leadership, either to the CSA and VCSA, and individual General Officer-level mentors who have functional or regional interests coincidental with 'their' Fellow's host institution.

BOOKS BY GRADS AND FACULTY

First In, Last Out: An American Paratrooper in Vietnam with the 101st and Vietnamese Airborne by BG (Ret) John D. Howard, RES '81. Howard arrived for his first tour in Vietnam in 1965, the first full year of escalation when U.S. troop levels increased to 184,000 from 23,000 the year before. When he returned for a second tour in 1972, troop strength stood at 24,000 and would dwindle the following year. His two tours -- one as a platoon commander and member of an elite counter-guerrilla force, the second as a senior advisor to the South Vietnamese -- provide a fascinating lens through which to view not only one soldier's experience in Vietnam, but also the country's.

Jack of All Trades: An American Advisor's War in Vietnam, 1969-70 by LTC (Ret) Ronald L. Beckett, FAC '82-'83. Beckett had already served two tours in Vietnam when he received orders to return in April 1969.

As the district senior advisor in the remote, rural Dinh Quan District of Long Khanh Province, he would face a demanding and dangerous assignment on the front lines of pacification. This is a sometimes critical, sometimes humorous, memoir of the American campaign to win Vietnamese hearts and minds. It is about the advisory mission with details of efforts to support combat missions, gather intelligence, improve infrastructure, develop the local economy, and above all, gain the trust of a people whose language they did not speak.

TRANSITIONS 2.0: A Field Guide for Mid-Career Professionals and Veterans Seeking New Challenges in the Business World by COL (Ret) Robert R. Ulin, DCS '86 and former FAC. Ulin shares what he and others have learned from the military, for-profit, and nonprofit sectors as senior executives navigating their transitions. Many professionals from all walks of life come to the realization, usually in middle-age, that it is time to do something else. This book will help you think through that process. It requires focus, work, and self-study to compete successfully for a meaningful position in the private sector that is a good fit for your skills, temperament, and ability. Without promises of magic formulas (or magic bullets) or complex flow diagrams, it contains proven strategies for those seeking leadership positions.

The War College: A Novel by COL (Ret) Dennis F. Coupe, RES '88 & former FAC. This fictional work finds Colonel David Coop facing retirement with 28 years in the Army and in his final job on the faculty of the Army War College.

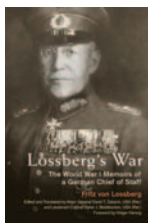

He hears from a former colleague who is investigating two murders of female soldiers a dozen years apart. One of Coop's students is a person of interest in at least one of the killings. As the criminal investigation unfolds, Coop finds himself reviewing the effects of his own past and confronting his fading career prospects.

The Battles and Campaigns of Confederate General Nathan Bedford Forrest, 1861-1865 by BG (Ret) John R. Scales USAWCF '93. The Tennessean was one of the most intriguing and controversial characters to emerge during the Civil War.

Books and articles on the man span the gamut from hero worship because of his remarkable battlefield victories, to condemnation for his involvement with the slaughter at Fort Pillow and later, his association with the Ku Klux Klan. Retired SF officer Scales plows entirely new ground with a careful and unique examination of Forrest's wartime activities and how his actions affected the war in the Western Theater.

Lossberg's War: The World War I Memoirs of a German Chief of Staff Fritz von Lossberg edited and translated by MG David T. Zabecki, DCS '95, & LTC (Ret) Dieter J. Biedekarken. Lossberg (1868-1942) directed virtually all the major German defensive battles on the Western Front during WWI. Hailed as "the Lion of the Defensive," he was an extremely influential military tactician quick to grasp the changes wrought by technology. Now available for the first time in English, Lossberg's memoir explains how he developed, tested, and implemented his central principles—flexibility, decentralized control, and counterattack—based on a need to adapt to shifting conditions on the battlefield. This book takes readers inside the mind of one of the most significant military innovators of the twentieth century.

Walking Wounded: Inside the U.S. Cyberwar Machine by Dr. Michael A. VanPutte, FAC '97-'99. VanPutte takes laymen and seasoned professionals alike on an insider's journey through the secret history, technologies, and strategies surrounding war and espionage in cyberspace. This is not another hacking book. It takes the reader behind the scenes and recounts the story of the Pentagon's love affair with technology, and how this reliance creates vulnerabilities to hackers. It explains how foreign intelligence services, criminals, and amateur hackers have compromised our sensitive systems for three decades, while our government hackers are running rampant through foreign information systems. It also explains how our national policies have made us all less secure. VanPutte gives the reader tools to get beyond the hype, mythologies, and marketing and understand what many call the most serious threat to our national security.

Elvis's Army: Cold War GIs and the Atomic Battlefield by Dr. Brian McAllister Linn, FAC '99-'00. When the U.S. Army drafted Elvis Presley in 1958, it was an era that threatened thermonuclear annihilation. The Army revamped its equipment, organization, concepts, and training practices for this revolution in warfare, requiring an equal revolution in personnel to find young officers and soldiers who were highly motivated, well trained, and technologically adept. The Army of the 1950s provided millions with education, technical skills, athletics, and other opportunities and military service became a common theme in television, music, and movies as part of this generation's identity. Linn traces the origins, evolution, and ultimate failure of the Army to transform itself for atomic warfare, revealing not only its vital role in creating Cold War America but also the experiences of its forgotten soldiers.

Originally From Dorchester: A Memoir by LTC (Ret) Gerard F. Healy, DDE '07. Growing up in Boston's neighborhood of Dorchester, Healy's parents, teachers, neighbors, and friends provided him with values; trial and error would fill in the gaps.

A story of place and time that narrates the good, the bad, and beauty of life there in the mid-60s, it chronicles a young boy's struggle for identity against the competing forces of peer and gang pressure. A predominantly Irish working-class neighborhood, Dorchester held everything including brutal street fighters, true friends, intimidating nuns, and protective neighbors. Healy shares lessons learned as he has roamed far beyond the town's borders. The book explores the complex relationships of adolescent peers, the struggle to break free of intimidating violence, and the saving value of friendship.

It's Personal, not Personnel, Leadership Lessons for the Battlefield and the Boardroom by COL (Ret) Robert C. Campbell, RES '13. Campbell, a 27-year Army officer and leader of more than 5,000 troops in the 1st Brigade of the 101st Airborne Division, uses his experiences leading large teams in high-stakes work to apply those insights to your work as a leader. Whether from lack of will, experience, or training, many leaders pay lip service to investing in people. They manage them on spreadsheets and in HR-focused software applications without personal consideration. By understanding that leadership is personal, you will begin to understand that all workplace challenges -- productivity issues, efficiency issues, turnover problems, lack of employee engagement -- come down to whether employees are being acknowledged, valued, and understood.

Becoming A Great Leader: How to Develop Your Leadership Attributes to Better Serve Others by LTC D. Matt Jenkins, DDE '17. Becoming a great leader is about serving others, so this book captures the essence of developing the modern leadership qualities that matter most. You can start with caring for your family, being charitable, controlling your temper, and pursuing additional opportunities to develop your leadership attributes. You can practice attributes that will provide a path for you to go from being a follower who is running with the crowd to being the great leader you have always wanted to be. Trusting others, becoming self-disciplined, knowing how to create change, choosing your words carefully, and making big decisions will help you to make that journey. You will read about three types of leadership roles that every leader will have when he or she first enters an organization and how to be a great leader in each of these situations and roles.

Values-Based Leaders In Action: Over 125 Stories of Advice and Inspiration from Everyday Values Based Leaders by Dr. Chris Hitch, NSS '17, Beth Ritter, and Michael Saccavino (editor). When you encounter ethical or moral dilemmas, you go through a leadership crucible where you are forced to come to grips with your values and their impact on others. The cornerstones of values-based leadership -- honesty, integrity, compassion, diversity, and social responsibility -- define who you are as a person. The Foreword by GEN (Ret) H. Hugh Shelton and his nationally-recognized five cornerstones of values-based leadership apply to all of us, whether K-12 students, undergraduate or graduate students, early career professionals, mid-career leaders, and senior executives. This book is packed with real-life stories by everyday people who don't come with exalted titles. You'll see how they apply the five cornerstones when making hard decisions and how doing so pays off in their lives and in the lives of others.

The Army Officer's Guide to Mentoring by LTC Raymond A. Kimball DDE '18. Mentoring matters! It matters because it shapes both the present and future of our Army. It matters because at our core, we are social beings who need the company of one another to blossom. It matters because, as steel sharpens steel, so professionals become more lethal and capable when they can learn from one another. This book is all about the lived experience of mentoring for Army officers -- real stories from real officers talking about their mentoring experiences.

Understanding the Complexity of Emergency Supply Chains by COL Matt Shatzkin, FAC. Emergency supply chains are complex, lack a developed forecast, primarily use manual requisitioning systems, and do not possess sophisticated means to sense and respond to the rapidly emerging and changing demands. Multiple stakeholders come together, many for the first time, to execute "on the fly," defining success by getting the job accomplished "at all costs." This book completes the education of practitioners and academics across multiple domains and contributes to military and nongovernmental operators, logisticians, and organizations' understanding of emergency supply chain strengths and vulnerabilities. Professionals will gain a sense of how these supply chains accomplish, limit, or constrain the emergency management process, exploring circumstances that run contrary to supply chain theory and thus reinforcing a solid grasp on supply chain fundamentals.

The Treaty of Versailles: A Concise History by Dr. Michael S. Neiberg, Chair of War Studies. Signed on June 28, 1919 between Germany and the principal Allied powers, the Treaty of Versailles formally ended WWI. Problematic from the beginning as a mediocre compromise, observers read it through competing lenses: a desire for peace after five years of disastrous war, demands for vengeance against Germany, the uncertain future of colonialism, and, most alarmingly, the emerging threat of Bolshevism. A century later, Neiberg helps us look back at how those developments evolved, evaluating the treaty and its consequences with unprecedented perspective, explaining the enormous challenges facing those who tried to put the world back together. Rather than assessing winners and losers, Neiberg analyzes the many subtle factors that influenced the treaty and the role of the "Big Four" leaders. As Neiberg reminds us, to understand decolonization, WWII, the Cold War, and even the complex world we inhabit today, there is no better place to begin than with WWI and the treaty that tried to end it.

When Should State Secrets Stay Secret?: Accountability, Democratic Governance, and Intelligence by Dr. Genevieve Lester, De Serio Chair of Strategic Intelligence. Contrary to popular assumption, the development of stronger oversight mechanisms actually leads to greater secrecy rather than the reverse. Lester examines modern trends by focusing on how American oversight mechanisms combine to bolster an internal security system and thus increase the secrecy of the intelligence enterprise. She uniquely examines these mechanisms within all three branches of government, how they interact, and what types of historical pivot points have driven change among them. She disaggregates the concept of accountability into a series of specified criteria in order to grapple with these pivot points. She concludes with a series of normative questions, suggesting ways to improve oversight mechanisms based on the analytical criteria laid out in the analysis. It also includes a chapter on the workings of the CIA to which a number of CIA officers contributed.

Our apologies to COL (Ret) John H. Roush, Jr., DCS '70, for our mix-up in the description of his book, Vivid Memories of an Interesting Life, in our last magazine. In this memoir of 100 essays spanning experiences in six continents, Roush sweeps readers through his 93 years, telling of adventure, wonder, endurance, and personal connection. Some of the most touching, heartfelt passages involve his love for his spouse of 65 years, but all are engaging, meaningful, and unique to a man who's lived life to the hilt.

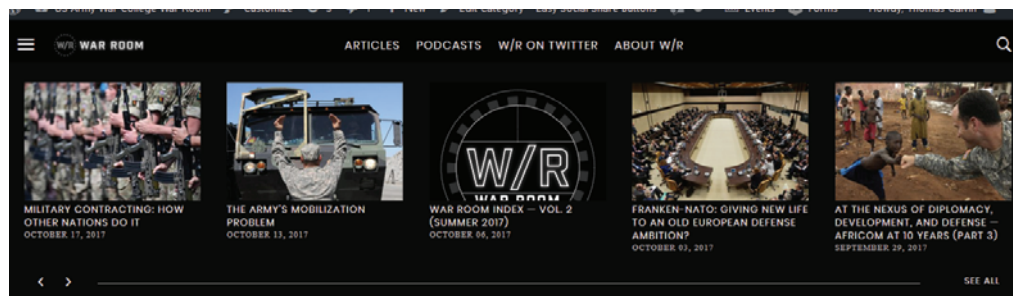

We also apologize to John for mis-spelling his last name in the spring magazine.

In May 2017 with the support of the Foundation, the War College launched WAR ROOM, an online journal. Founded by Dr. Andrew Hill, Chair of Strategic Leadership, (Editor-in-Chief) and Dr. Tom Galvin, RES '06 & FAC (Managing Editor), WAR ROOM is an outstanding platform for writers with an interest in national security and defense. "Anyone can write for WAR ROOM," is the first of the WAR ROOM Rules, and in the past six months, the site has featured articles by USAWC students and alumni, faculty, and military and non-military members of the wider national security community. WAR ROOM provides a forum for provocative ideas to stimulate debate on the evolving strategic environment, the character of war, and preparing for the next fight.

To date, WAR ROOM has featured over 50 articles and podcasts covering the full range of topics relevant to the mission of the USAWC – leadership, national security policy, warfighting, theories of war and strategy, military history, and enterprise management. Articles are published with a length and format common to online journals such as War on the Rocks and Defense One. Some of the earliest articles emerged from Strategy Research Projects and course papers by resident students from the Class of 2017. In late September, WAR ROOM commemorated the 10th anniversary of the U.S. Africa Command with two articles and a podcast on the unique aspects of the command's structure and mission. It has also featured works from authors outside the military, such as two pieces from researchers at the Institute on Science for Global Policy on sea level rise and the security implications of emerging biotechnology.

WAR ROOM podcasts are 15-30 minute conversations covering a wide range of topics. The first was about the presence of foreign fighters in the Caribbean with Col Jaimie Ogilvie, RES '17 the College's first International Fellow from Jamaica. Other popular podcasts have included a retrospective on the 1988 National Security Strategy, an exploration of China's Belt and Road Initiative, and a discussion with former Commandant MG Bill Rapp about the evolving purpose of War Colleges.

WAR ROOM podcasts include two special series. "Great Strategists" (launched in August) features USAWC scholars examining the work and influence of Clausewitz, Sun Tzu, and others. "Dusty Shelves" (launched in October) features historians telling the stories of key historical artifacts available from the Army Heritage and Education Center.

WAR ROOM's design is simple, functional, and attractive. It was built with a modern audience in mind, meaning that it needed to be appealing and work well on both desktop and mobile platforms. In fact, the majority of readers and listeners access the site from their mobile devices. The most popular articles have been viewed thousands of times, and editors have recently expanded marketing of the site on social media. They will soon begin sending a weekly digest to email subscribers. Visit <http://warroom.armywarcollege.edu>, check out the current content, and download the submission guide. You can subscribe to the site and receive updates and release notes. You can also follow on Facebook and Twitter.

If you have an idea for an article or podcast, please send your ideas to Andrew Hill at Andrew.a.hill13.civ@mail.mil or Tom Galvin at Thomas.p.galvin.civ@mail.mil. They are always looking for quality content and would love to hear from you. Anyone can write for WAR ROOM!

Greetings from the U.S. Army Heritage and Education Center (USAHEC)! We have just closed out Oktoberfest--the traditional German salute to fall, with a record breaking crowd. We had several groups of reenactors on the grounds that bring a special interactive education to the event. I hope you mark your calendars for our huge spring event, Army Heritage Days, which will be held May 19-20, 2018.

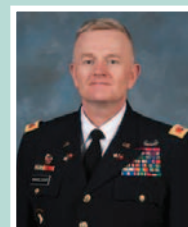

I want to share some good news with you. The three contracts essential to the archives digitization project were all successfully awarded before the FY17 end! Within days, we begin a multi-year project to convert the Army archives held here at the USAHEC into a high-resolution, digital format easily searchable by the operational force, Army University, researchers, and the public. It also creates an electronic copy of irreplaceable, historically-significant materials, ensuring survivability. Beyond the support to the operational force, this effort directly restores a connection with the American public through education on our Army--to inform, excite, and inspire people. Technologically, it keeps us on the leading edge of historical institutions with online resources. A lot of hard work by many dedicated folks over the last year made this amazing feat possible. I truly believe we can make the history of our Army accessible to every American with an internet connection!

The USAHEC is constantly growing and changing. If you have not been here recently, you must come visit the latest art exhibit "An American in Paris: War, Soldier Morale, and the YMCA" as well as our World War I exhibit "Good-Bye Broadway, Hello France." We continue to improve the outdoor experience on the Army Heritage Trail. Several large artifacts, including an AH-1 Cobra attack helicopter, were restored and repainted. This month, we start construction on a wooden guard tower that adds to the Vietnam-era experience while giving grandkids a place to climb and burn off energy.

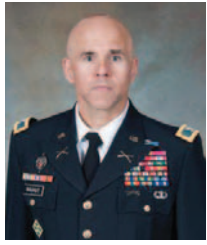

Thanks to each of you for your support. We continue to grow in new directions with exhibits, facilities, and a campus dedicated to honoring Soldiers, their memories, and their experiences. Through that, we are able to tell the Army story, one Soldier at a time.

PEACEKEEPING AND STABILITY OPERATIONS INSTITUTE (PKSOI)

The institute recently turned over many military and staff members. PKSOI's former Deputy Director, COL Geoffrey Mangelsdorf, assumed the position as Director of AHEC. COL Michael Rauhut, the new Deputy Director, joins PKSOI after serving as the Chief of Staff for the Military Staff Committee at the U.S. Mission to the UN in New York. In this capacity, he was responsible for both U.S. representation to the UN Military Staff Committee and the provision of advice to both the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the U.S. Permanent Representative to the UN. He brings a wealth of peacekeeping and UN experience to PKSOI.

Several exemplary officers with expertise in Peace or Stability operations have been selected to serve in PKSOI after graduating from a USAWC class. Recent selectees were COL Jay Liddick, RES '17, COL Steve Marr, RES '17, COL Morgan 'Dan' O'Rourke, RES '15, and COL Ryan Wolfram, RES '16. They join the PKSOI staff as the Irregular Warfare Integrator and Planner, the Governance Advisor, the Infrastructure Advisor, and the Peace Operations Training and Education Specialist, respectively.

PKSOI is now publishing its AY17 Integrated Research Project (IRP) with input from ten USAWC students in a final volume entitled Improving the Whole of Government Approach toward Operational Planning and Execution for Stabilization. It explores the compelling U.S. national security interests in promoting stability in select fragile and conflict-affected states. The operating environment is complex, requiring a whole-of-government (WoG) response, which supports the affected nation's strategic goals. The U.S. government has institutional frictions to WoG, such as authorities and funding, agency cultures, education and training, information sharing, and lack of overarching doctrine. The document discusses best practices to counter such frictions.

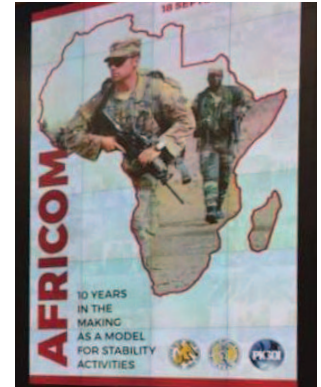

PKSOI held a 2017 AUSA panel discussion entitled AFRICOM: 10 years in the making as a model for Stability Activities, on September 18 at AUSA headquarters. The two panels addressed WoG progress in the Peace and Stability Operations environment with a focus on AFRICOM. To kick off the discussion, PKSOI presented its IRP findings, which were used as a template for comparison with some of the emerging challenges within the AFRICOM theater, while applying a WoG approach to fulfill national interests. A second panel applied the IRP principles to a Lake Chad Basin case study to determine whether they would alter the existing strategy for that region. A third panel explored the opportunities and challenges awaiting AFRICOM and its partners in the coming decade and beyond. The findings will be presented in PKSOI's upcoming journal.

COL Ken Adgie, RES '10,
DepCmdt

COL Kevin Nash, RES '17

An ongoing PKSOI research initiative from OSD and the Army staff is to investigate "right sizing for stability." The project will develop a force planning tool tailored for complex contingency operations. The project deliverable is a planning tool to assist national command authorities on the size and composition of combat and support forces to be deployed across a range of battlespaces.

CDR Danny King, RES '16, PKSOI's Senior Navy Advisor, was promoted to CAPT on October 1, 2017.

DEVELOPMENT UPDATE

REAL ESTATE GIFT

Last spring, we told you about the offer of our first real estate gift — an end-unit townhouse in Fayetteville, N.C. On June 9, your Foundation took possession of the home. On October 3, we closed the sale of the property to a buyer. As anyone who has ever bought or sold real estate knows, a lot of work went into this process between those two dates, but both the donor and the Foundation achieved their goals. With expertise from our Board of Trustees and advice from our auditors, we were able to turn the property into revenue and fully document the process.

To recap, the donor:

- May deduct the appraised value of the property from his 2017 taxable income
- Avoided the capital gains tax otherwise due after selling the fully-depreciated home
- Didn't have to prepare the property for sale
- Bypassed showing, negotiating, and closing

At the same time, your Foundation turned this generous gift into unrestricted revenue to support Army War College programs!

IRA REQUIRED MINIMUM DISTRIBUTION

Federal tax law calls for Required Minimum Distributions (RMD) from traditional Individual Retirement Accounts, SEP IRAs, and SIMPLE IRAs beginning with the year in which you turn 70 1/2. These distributions will be included in your taxable income, except for withdrawals that are a return of your basis. If you are facing an RMD from your retirement account, please consider a direct transfer of your RMD to the Army War College Foundation. A direct transfer to the Foundation is a tax-free transaction. Tax law extends RMDs to inherited retirement accounts, and gives multiple options to beneficiaries. If you have questions about calculating your RMD, or if your situation calls for taking an RMD from the account, consult your tax adviser.

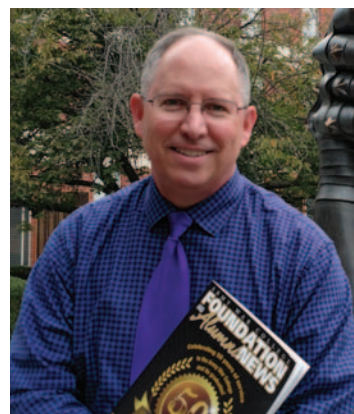

We want to introduce you to a wonderful graduate whose RMD was donated to our Foundation as a charitable IRA transfer -- the late COL (Ret) Angelo James 'Jim' Harageones, RES '70. Jim and his wife Helen had talked often about supporting the Army War College, so when Jim passed away, Helen honored him via a direct transfer of the RMD from his account. As part of their lifetime of service and 60 years of marriage, the Harageones' year at the College left a lasting impression on both of them. While Jim was completing his War College studies, Helen was privileged to serve as a regular volunteer with the Military History Institute (MHI) during MHI's development of the Bradley Library. After Jim's death, Helen wrote, "We made so many friends together and Jim had so many years in the military from World War II and throughout retirement and then in private industry with the government..." that they wanted to give back. Helen also said that Jim did not care about having his name in lights or on buildings, but rather would be proud of helping other military leaders serve as he did. In addition to honoring Jim by gifting his RMD to the Foundation as a Tribute Donation, Helen has continued to stay in touch with us in Jim's memory.

"PARDON ME, BUT DO YOU HAVE A MATCH?"

Our Donor Honor Roll (see page 21) includes a list of 17 companies and foundations that donated to the Army War College Foundation during our 2016 fiscal year in order to match a gift from a graduate or friend of the College. If you are currently employed and already support the College, would you consider asking your employer to match your gift? That small step could make a meaningful difference in the Margin of Excellence support we are able to give the College this year.

Col (Ret) Harry Leach, USAF, RES '05 & former FAC Director for Development

THANKS TO MR. RUSSELL T. BUNDY

If you haven't had the fortune to meet Mr. Russ Bundy, founder of Bundy Baking Solutions in Urbana, Ohio, we'd like to introduce you to him. He became acquainted with the U.S. Army War College in 2001 and he's been a wonderful supporter of the College and our Foundation ever since. Russ is one of the most patriotic, hardworking, and inspirational gentlemen you could ever know, and we are truly appreciative of his and Liz's friendship and support.

Outstanding Alum ('98)

October 30, 1930–September 15, 2017

I am deeply saddened by George's death. I first met him when I was assigned to the Military Enlistment Processing Station Cleveland in early 1979. From that first meeting, I considered him a friend. In the greater Cleveland area, he was a businessman, a Boy Scout leader, a family man, a leader with the USO of Northern Ohio, a veteran associated with numerous veterans and military-oriented organizations to include the Northeast Ohio West Point Parents Association and the Joint Veterans Commission of Cuyahoga County and most importantly, a friend to many. George was a giant of a man both literally and figuratively, but you were drawn to him by his kindness, his smile, and his warmth. Once you met George, you never forgot him and most importantly, he never forgot you. George earned the distinction of being an Outstanding Alumni of the Army War College in 1998 because of what he did after his retirement from the Army -- what he did for his community over and above his Army service. No one among the many who have received this honor deserved it more. The nation, the Army, the Army War College, the greater Cleveland area, and many individuals are saddened by the death of George Qua. I am one of those individuals and am thankful for and have benefited from his friendship these many years. I will miss him.

Outstanding Alum ('98)

December 2, 1929–August 10, 2017

Bill was born on the family farm near Rush Center, Kansas, the third son of immigrants from the Volga German region of Russia. He put himself through college by working several jobs and joined the U.S. Army Reserve while still a student. After seven years in the Reserve and increasingly enjoying the military, Bill applied for and received a direct appointment as a Regular Army officer and was commissioned in 1959. Over the next 23 years, Bill enjoyed a rich and varied career in the Army, serving in Vietnam in 1969-70, but it would be his community service afterwards that resulted in his USAWC Outstanding Alum honor in 1998. After Bill returned home to Kansas, he earned his doctorate at Kansas State University and served as President of Marymount College in Salina, Kansas, before becoming Professor of Business and Chair of the Division of Business, Technology and Leadership within the Graduate School of Friends University in Wichita. Bill found a calling in the Lions Club where their motto "We Serve" was tailor-made for the 'love your neighbor' maxim he learned as a youth. Increasingly taking on more leadership responsibility, he eventually served as District Governor, State Council Chairman, President/CEO of Lions Club International, and also Chairman of the Lions Clubs International Foundation. For his integrity and model servant leadership in a variety of causes, Bill also served his home state as Chairman of the Kansas Commission for National and Community Service.

MG (Ret) John A. Hoeffling, RES '65 & former FAC and his wife, Patricia, celebrated their 70th (yes, that's right, seventieth) wedding anniversary April 7th. Both are still in reasonably good health.

7 COL (Ret) William A. Rivera, DCS '89 and son LTC (P) Brian M. Rivera, DDE '17 are shown in front of the 1989 bronze class plaque. Fortunately, the forecast of threatening weather held off long enough for the DDE 2017 graduation ceremony to be conducted outdoors as scheduled.

8 Dr. Leif R. Rosenberger, DCS '89 & former FAC, retired after 35 years of government service. He is pictured with GEN (Ret) Lloyd J. Austin III, RES '97, who was a student in Leif's seminar (and seminar chairman, by the way). Leif later served as General Austin's Economic Advisor and Chief Economist at CENTCOM.

9 MG (Ret) Gus L. Hargett, Jr., USAWCF '90 received the LTG Raymond S. McLain Medal at AUSA's Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C. in October. This award is given to a current or former member of the National Guard for advancing a seamless and component-integrated Army. As the now-retired Tennessee Adjutant General and former President of the National Guard Association of the U.S., he led a number of truly substantive efforts as he applied 47 years of military service to strengthening and solidifying the standing of the National Guard as a vital operational force within the DoD.

10 COL (Ret) Harold 'Hal' Youmans, DCS '90 was honored with the acceptance of his additional historical writings relating to the War of 1812 into the archives at the U.S. Army Heritage and Education Center. He continues to write and speak on issues relating to Military Operational Law and related subjects.

He recently retired from Northrop Grumman where he worked part-time as a Special Forces cell controller/unconventional warfare operator on military exercises. Also, after a 50-year membership in good standing, Judge Zleit has been recognized as a "Senior Counselor" by the Missouri Bar.

CH (COL, Ret) Herman J. Keizer, Jr., RES '92 continues to conduct research and raise public awareness on PTSD and Moral Injury. 14 COL (Ret) Michael 'Mike' Metcalf and COL (Ret) James 'Jim' Hayes, both DCS '94 took a break from golfing to enjoy a lake outing in Wisconsin in August. Yes, the cheeseheads are typical for Packer fans...which they are!

Straus Scantlin, USAWCF '17 (Texas A&M '94) demonstrated esprit de corps for their colleges while assembled in the Miriam Litcher Stark Library at the University of Texas on May 11, 2017 for Straus' completion of his USAWC Fellowship at UT.
